PREFACE

THIS book is divided into four parts. Part I contains the ancestry of the paternal grandfather of the young man in whom all the various lines in this book converge. Part II contains the ancestry of his paternal grandmother. Part III was to have contained the ancestry of his maternal grandparents, and the contemporaneous material for this is all in hand. Last minute difficulties have rendered it uncertain from which of two branches of the Rhode Island Sweets he descends, although it seems certain that he descends, via either branch, from JOHN and MARY SWEET, who settled in Salem about 1630 and removed to Providence with Roger Williams in 1637. Part III will therefore be published separately later. Part IV is a chart showing the royal ancestry of the subject of the book through one line.

The first family in each Part is that which gives its name to the Part, and the other families within the Part follow in alphabetical succession. From the first family cross-references are given to and from the other families. In general a family has not been given independent mention unless it ran for more than three generations.

Names of direct ancestors are CAPITALIZED; all other names are in lower case. The exponential figures above the names of the direct ancestors refer to the particular family's generations in America.

The author regrets that the limited time at his disposal has not permitted him to give page references in an index to the individual names mentioned. He is as conscious as anyone can be of the short-comings of this book, but he feels that he has done the best that difficult circumstances have permitted. He only allows himself to hope that no gross errors have crept in.

Remembrance of the facts which it is the purpose of this book to preserve is lost but too soon: littera scripta manent. Good blood alone is not a legitimate source of pride to those who have inherited it, but, on the other hand, the achievements of those who have served their own generations ought to be a source of perpetual emulation to us to serve ours. Here is preserved for a time some mention of what manner of men they were who put on mortality before us and left us their blood and their character.

Alone among his readers the wife of the author knows the time and the labor which this book has demanded. To her, to their son and to their several relatives he consecrates that time and that labor, a labor of love, with his affectionate good wishes and with the hope that from this book they may derive some profit or some pleasure.

STEPHEN was born in 1561 and died at Hackney, near London, in 1660. About 1654 he had returned to England, accompanied by his grandchild, Stephen Samborne. For further particulars as to the Rev. STEPHEN BACHILER see 46 N. Eng. Reg., 58, 157, 246, 345: Batchelder, Batcheller Genealogy, by F. C. Pierce, Chicago, 1898. BANCROFT.

The name of Bancroft appears to be of Anglo-Saxon origin, derived from bane or baynes, meaning white or fair, and croft, a small enclosed field.

The family flourished in Lancashire, where Richard Bancroft, archbishop of Canterbury, Primate of England, was born in 1544. He was "chief overseer" of the Authorized Version of the Bible. The first ancestor as to whom we can be definite was

JOHN BANCROFT of Chellaston, Barrow, who married MARGARET HOLLINGSWORTH or HARYNGWORTH. His will is dated May 11, 1556, and was probated Jan. 24, 1557. His son was

RALPH BANCROFT, who married ALICE ..... He was living in 1611. His son was

THOMAS BANCROFT of Swarkeston, yeoman. He married REBECCA ..... She was living in 1627, but was buried at Swarkeston before 1639. His will, dated Oct. 13, 1626, was probated Oct. 11, 1627, and he was buried at Swarkeston. Their eldest son was JOHN[1] BANCROFT, who was of Swarkeston in 1627. His oath is recorded at Westminster, April 12, 1632, and he sailed in the James, arriving at Salem. He settled at Lynn, where he died in 1637. His wife was JANE ....., who was granted 100 acres of land at Lynn in 1638. She removed to Southampton, L. I., and then to Windsor, Conn., where she died before 1644. JOHN'S brother Thomas was a poet, the author of "Two Bookes of Epigrammes and Epitaphs," published at London in 1639. In one of them, with some poetic license, he commemorates his brother JOHN'S short life in New England as follows:

> "You sold your land the lighter hence to go
> To foreign coasts, yet (Fate would have it so)
> Did ne'er New England reach, but went with them
> That journey toward New Jerusalem."

His son was

Lieutenant THOMAS[2] BANCROFT, born probably in Derbyshire, England, in 1622; died at Lynn, Mass., Aug. 19, 1691. He married

1. Alice Bacon at Dedham, Mass., Jan. 31, 1647; she died Jan. 29, 1648, without issue, and was the daughter of Michael Bacon of Dedham.

2. ELISABETH METCALFE of Dedham, Mass., Sept. 15 (16?), 1648. She was born at Heigham, England, Oct. 4, 1626, and died at Lynnfield, Mass., May 1, 1711. She was the daughter of MICHAEL METCALFE and SARAH ELLWYN.†

THOMAS served against the Narragansett Indians. On Oct. 15, 1679, he was relieved from his office of Ensign on the grounds of long service and poor health. He resided at Dedham until 1652, when he came to Lynnfield, later known as Reading, but then a part of Lynn, Mass. His gravestone was still (1872) standing in the burial ground at Reading, now known as Wakefield, Mass.

DEACON THOMAS[3] BANCROFT married SARAH POOLE (POOLL) at Reading April 10, 1673, and he died there June 12, 1718. SARAH died there May 20, 1723. She was the

† MICHAEL METCALFE of Dedham, Mass., was born 1586 at Tatterford, county Norfolk, England. He was a dornock weaver at Norwich and free of the city, where all his children were born. On Oct. 13, 1616, he married SARAH ELLWYN. ELISABETH METCALFE, who married THOMAS[1] BANCROFT, was born Oct. 4, 1626, according to Savage, III, 203. SARAH was born at a village near Norwich, MICHAEL says, June 17, 1593 (1598?). In the examination one week before sailing of the Rose of Yarmouth, from Yarmouth, in April, 1637, MICHAEL calls himself 45 and SARAH 39. From the religious tyranny exercised by Bishop Wren of Norwich he felt forced to escape, even at the expense of separation from his family. He embarked at London, Sept. 17, 1636, for New England, but was sadly tormented by tempests, and at Christmas the ship put back to Plymouth. By April, 1637, he was successful in securing a license permitting his family to come with him. He arrived at Boston "three days before midsummer with nine children and a servant." SARAH died Feb. 21, 1645 and he died Dec. 27, 1664. His engagement, after seventy years of age, to keep the Dedham town school, in 1656, is a very curious document, N. Eng. Reg., X, 282. He was to be paid £20, two thirds in wheat and one third in corn. Not over one third of the corn was to be Indian corn. In "extrem wether" he might keep the school at his home, instead of at the school house: in hot weather he might use the "mettenge house * * * provided the house be left clene against any publiq use of the house and also that the windows be made good if any be brokin * * *."

daughter of JONATHAN POOLL§ and JUDITH ..... and was born at Reading July 11, 1656. THOMAS was a deacon, a selectman and an officer in King Philip's War. He was born in 1649. Eldest child of THOMAS.[2] See Mather's Magnalia Christi, IV, ch. 1, and G. M. Bodge's Soldiers in King Philip's War.

THOMAS[4] BANCROFT was born at Reading Feb. 8, 1673, and died there Nov. 8. 1731. He married MARY[3] WEBSTER. See the WEBSTER line.

THOMAS[5] BANCROFT was born at Reading April 8, 1696, and died there Feb. 24, 1747/8. At Newbury, Mass., he married LYDIA DEANE on Oct. 31, 1717. He was an Ensign.

MOSES[6] BANCROFT was born at Reading Sept. 7, 1723, and married MARY WILEY at Reading Dec. 6, 1745. MARY was the daughter of TIMOTHY WILLY (sic) and MARY POOL of Lynn, Mass., and was born at Reading Sept. 21, 1721. TIMOTHY WILLY and MARY POOL were married at Reading July 30, 1714.

JOSEPH[7] BANCROFT was born at Sutton, Mass., Jan. 13, 1756. There he married, on Sept. 14, 1780, HANNAH[6] TAINTER, daughter of SIMON[5] TAINTER and MARY BRUCE. See the TAINTER line. HANNAH[6] was born at Sutton March 20, 1758, and died there Nov. 22, 1791.

JOSEPH[7] was an officer in the Revolution, as appears from "Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors in the War of the Revolution. Boston, 1902." Vol. I, pp. 564-565:—

§ JOHN POOLE, says Savage, III, 454-455, was at Cambridge, Mass., in 1632 and went to Lynn before 1638, where he had 200 acres. From Lynn he went to Reading, where he died April 1, 1667, and his wife MARGARET died April 29, 1662. His son JONATHAN is named as the sole executor of his will, dated Feb. 14, 1667.

JONATHAN POOLE of Reading, Mass., was much valued in King Philip's War. He was a Captain under Major Appleton at Hadley and was President of the Council of War in the winter of 1675-1676. He is mentioned many times in G. M. Bodge's Soldiers in King Philip's War. He was a Representative in 1677 and died Dec. 24, 1678, aged 44. His eldest child was

SARAH POOLE, born July 11, 1656, who married THOMAS[2] BANCROFT.

BANCROFT, JOSEPH, Reading. Sergeant, Capt. Thomas Eaton's co., Col. Green's regt., which marched on the alarm of April 19, 1775; service, 12 days; reported as belonging to train band; also, 2d Lieutenant, Capt. Abraham Foster's (4th) co., 2d Middlesex Co. regt.; list of officers of Mass. militia; commissioned Aug. 20, 1777.

MOSES[8] BANCROFT was born at Sutton Jan. 18, 1786, and married at Auburn, Mass., TAMER[6] KING—see the PUTNAM line.

HANNAH KING[9] BANCROFT, their eldest child, married ANSON[7] SANBORN "of St. Johnsbury, Vt.," at Phillipston, Mass., Feb. 18, 1833.

The arms of the BANCROFTS are: Or, on a bend azure, between six cross-crosslets azure, three garbs (wheat sheaves) of the first. Crest: A garb between two wings expanded, or. Motto: DAT DEUS INCREMENTUM.

Authorities: N. E. Reg., Vol. 56, p. 197; certain fragmentary Bancroft charts in the N. Y. Public Library; "Vital Records" of Reading, Sutton and Phillipston, Mass.

THOMAS[4] BANCROFT was the great-great-grandfather of the historian and statesman, George Bancroft.

HENRY[1] DOW was born in Runham, Norfolk, England, about 1608, the son of HENRY DOW and ELIZABETH ..... of the same. He came to Watertown, Mass., in 1637 and to Hampton, N. H., about 1644, where he died April 21, 1659. At Ormsby, England, he married JOANE ..... on Feb. 11, 1631. GOULD.

The lineage of ZACCHEUS[1] GOULD in England may be found in full at pages 2-22 of Professor Gould's book.* He was the great-great-great-grandson of THOMAS GOOLD and his wife JOHAN. THOMAS was born before 1455 and he lived at Bovingdon, near Hemel Hampstead, in England. He died in 1520.

ZACCHEUS[1] GOULD was born in 1589 at Hemel Hampstead and later lived at Great Missenden, Buckinghamshire, where he was assessed in 1629. He married PHEBE DEACON, daughter of THOMAS DEACON and MARTHA ..... of Corner Hall, Hemel Hampstead. PHEBE was the sister of PRISCILLA DEACON, who married JOHN[1] PUTNAM; see the PUTNAM line. ZACCHEUS was at Weymouth, Mass., in 1639. In 1644 he was at what soon became Topsfield, Mass., where he was a large landholder. In 1659 he was fined £3 for entertaining Quakers. Many curious details as to his life may be found in the book of Professor Gould.* He died at Topsfield in 1668 and PHEBE had died there in 1663. Their only son was

JOHN[2] GOULD, who was born June 21, 1635, probably at Great Missenden. On Oct. 14, 1660, he married SARAH BAKER, daughter of JOHN BAKER and ELIZABETH ..... SARAH was born March 9, 1641, and died Jan. 20, 1708/9. JOHN was very prominent in his day; one of those who established the first iron works in America, a Selectman many times, a Deputy to the General Court and a Lieutenant in the militia. In 1675/6 he took part in the Narragansett campaign. In 1686 he was charged with treason by the unpopular Governor Dudley and Secretary Randolph and had to pay a fine of £50. These transactions and others are narrated in full in Professor Gould's book.* He died on Jan. 26, 1709/10. See also Hutchinson, I, 365 and 3 Mass. Hist. Coll., VII, 150-154.

ZACCHEUS[3] GOULD was born at Topsfield March 26, 1672. On Jan. 21, 1701/2, he married ELIZABETH CURTICE, who was born at Topsfield Dec. 15, 1679, and died there June 21, 1740. She was the daughter of JOHN CURTICE and MARY LOOKE, who were married at Topsfield Dec. 4, 1672. ZACCHEUS died at Topsfield April 29, 1739. He was Selectman for many years.

THOMAS[2] HALE, son of the above, was born in England in 1633 and married on May 26, 1657, MARY HUTCHINSON, bap. North Muskham, Coy. Notts. Engl., Dec. 28, 1630, daughter of RICHARD HUTCHINSON of Salem and ALICE BOSWORTH. See HUTCHINSON pedigree, N. E. Register, Vol. 22, pp. 236-254; also Essex Inst. Hist. Coll., Vol. 10, pp. 1-107. THOMAS[2] died at Newbury, Mass., Oct. 22, 1688. MARY died at Boxford, having married again, Dec. 8, 1715.

MARY[3] HALE was born July 15, 1660. It is my conjecture that because of the close relations of the PUTNAMS with Newbury that this is the MARY HALE whom EDWARD[3] PUTNAM married, inasmuch as her age is exactly right, but as yet I cannot adduce conclusive proof.

From the latter he was restored on repentance in 1661. Savage, III, 27.

PUTNAM.

Below is given only the direct PUTNAM line of descent. Other lines, such as FOXLE, SPIGORNELL and WARBLETON, are to be found at length in the work cited below.

SIR ROGER DE PUTTENHAM was born in 1272 and married ALINA SPIGORNELL. He bought lands in Penne. He was Sheriff of Hertfordshire in 1322.

SIR ROGER DE PUTTENHAM was a follower of Sir John de Molyns in 1339. He was a Knight of the Shire in 1355-1374.

WILLIAM PUTTENHAM was either the son or the grandson of the second Sir ROGER. He lived at Puttenham and at Penne. He was born about 1355 and married MARGARET DE WARBLETON, third daughter of JOHN DE WARBLETON of Warbleton, Sussex and Sherfield on Loudon, Southants, and KATHERINE DE FOXLE, daughter of SIR JOHN DE FOXLE, of Foxle, Bramshall, and Apuldrefield.

HENRY PUTTENHAM was born in 1401, as he was aged sixty in the 8th year of Edward IV. He died July 6, 1473. He married ELIZABETH ....., who died 1486.

WILLIAM PUTTENHAM was born about 1430 and died in 1492. He married ANNE DE HAMPDEN, daughter of SIR JOHN DE HAMPDEN and ELIZABETH DE WALESBURY. His son was

For the DEACON ancestry, see pages 2-3 of the work cited below.* PRISCILLA was the sister of PHEBE DEACON who married ZACCHEUS[1] GOULD; see the GOULD line. * The Putnam Lineage. By Eben Putnam, Salem, Mass. 1907.

† EDWARD HOLYOKE, says Savage, II, 456, was at Lynn, 1636/7, and came from Tamworth, county Stafford, England. With a prefix of respect he was admitted freeman, March 14, 1639. He lived mostly in the part of Boston known as Rumney Marsh and since called Chelsea. He was chosen Representative for several towns between the time when he was serving for Lynn, from 1639 to 1648, and his death, as, for Springfield, 1650, and he was thus honored at the time of his death, May 4, 1660. On June 18, 1612 he married PRUDENCE STOCKTON, daughter of the Rev. JOHN STOCKTON of Kinholt. EDWARD'S will is to be found in the N. Eng. Reg., IX, 345. He was great-grandfather of Edward Holyoke, President of Harvard from 1737-1769. See Vol. III, Essex Inst. Hist. Coll.

Deacon EDWARD[3] PUTNAM was baptized in Salem, July 4, 1654, and died at Salem March 10, 1747. On June 14, 1681, he married MARY HALE. See the HALE line. During the witchcraft troubles he was a member of the party which brought charges against so many innocent people. See JACOB[2] TOWNE. See also Upham's "Witchcraft."

ISAAC[4] PUTNAM was born in Salem March 14, 1698, and died in Sutton, Mass., in 1757. He settled there about 1722. He first built in Sutton about 1730, and after his death the house was inherited by his son Phineas, who sold it to Squire NATHAN.[5] NATHAN'S son, Captain Abner, sold the farm to Captain Josiah Hall, about 1816, at which time the old house was gone. The house which was on the farm in 1876 was built by Squire NATHAN[5] in 1776, and was then the best house in town. On Dec. 20, 1720, he married ANNA[4] FULLER. See the FULLER line.

Squire NATHAN[5] PUTNAM was born at Sutton, Mass., October 24, 1730, and on Aug. 2, 1752, he married ELIZABETH BUFFINGTON of Salem, who was born on Feb. or Sept. 28, 1734, baptized at Salem, July 27, 1740, and died at Sutton, Aug. 26, 1810. She was the daughter of JAMES BUFFINGTON of Salem and ELIZABETH GOLD, whose "intention" is recorded at Salem on Feb. 23, 1732/3. NATHAN had fifteen children, all of whom lived and married, except the youngest son, who died an old bachelor. Squire NATHAN was noted for the great number of marriages which he performed, and many couples were married in the house which he built. He was deacon of the First Congregational Church. He carried on the scythe business and he also had a trip-hammer, operated by horse-power: it is said to have been the first in the state. When NATHAN built his house he set elm trees around it and six of them "still" (1876) stand. In 1831 a tornado passed through Sutton, destroying everything in its path. "When the tornado struck these trees, raising their branches high and transforming them into the shape of Lombardy poplars, it found its match. They were too strong even for a whirlwind. They severed it in twain, and it passed each side of the house. The escape of the house and inmates was due to these noble trees. There they have stood one hundred years, a living monument to the enterprise of NATHAN PUTNAM. Though he is dead, these beautiful trees still live, coeval with our national independence." He died at Sutton, Aug. 6, 1813. He was a member of the Sutton Committee of Safety during the Revolution.

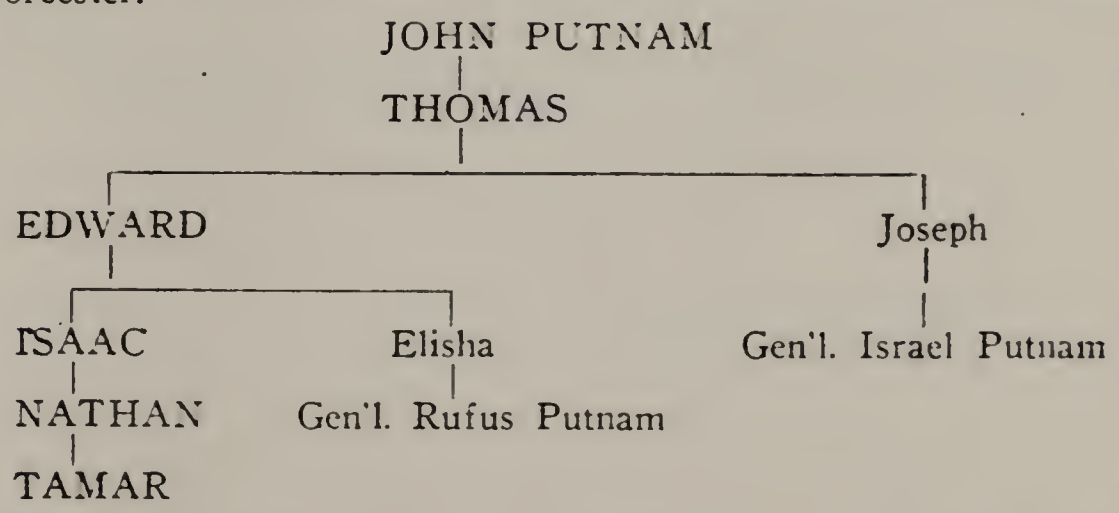
TAMER[6] PUTNAM, daughter of NATHAN, was born October 23, 1768, and married JOHN KING, JR., March 17, 1784. See the KING line. They had three children, John, James and TAMER. She died at Sutton, Dec. 6, 1819.

TAMER[6] KING was born July 16, 1786, and on June 30, 1806, she married at Auburn, Mass., MOSES[7] BANCROFT who was born Jan. 18, 1786. They lived at Phillipston, Mass., and had eleven children. According to another account Tamer was born July 7, 1785. Probably the first date is correct, as she seems to have died "in the 42 year of her age." A family tree gives the date of her death as being March 27, 1827. Correct: "Phillipston Vital Records," p. 98.

HANNAH[8] KING BANCROFT, their eldest child, was born March 5, 1807, and married ANSON SANBORN February 18, 1833.

Note: Oxford, Sutton, Auburn, are all in Massachusetts, not far south of Worcester.



General Israel Putnam was the son of Joseph and the grandson of THOMAS.[2] See 22 Encycl. Brit. (11th ed.) page 670.

General Rufus Putnam, the "father of Ohio", was the son of Elisha and the grandson of EDWARD.[3] See 22 Encyl. Brit., p. 671.

The arms of the PUTNAMS are: Sable, between eight crosses crosslet-fitchée, argent, a stork of the last, beaked and legged gules. Crest: a wolf's head gules.

CHARLES[1] TAINTOR of South Wales migrated to America with his family in consequence of religious persecution, and was deprived of a large estate in Wales by confiscation. He was at Wethersfield, Mass., in 1643. He was entrusted in foreign voyages and was lost at sea in October, 1654.

JOSEPH[2] TAINTOR, says Savage, came at the age of 25 in the Confidence. He sailed from Southampton April 24, 1638, and married MARY GUY, daughter of NICHOLAS GUY of Upton, County Hants., his fellow passenger. MARY died 1705, aged 86. JOSEPH died Feb. 20, 1690, apparently aged about 77.

NICHOLAS GUY, says Savage, II, 325, of Watertown, Mass., came in the ship Confidence of London, in 1638, aged 50, with his wife JANE ....., aged 30, from Upton in Hampshire. He embarked at Southampton. He was a deacon, was made a freeman May 22, 1639, and died July 6, 1649. JANE died in 1669.

SIMON[3] TAINTOR was born at Watertown, Mass., Sept. 30, 1660, and on May 9, 1693, he married, at Boston, JOANNA[3] STONE, daughter of Deacon JOHN[2] STONE. See the STONE line. JOANNA was born at Watertown, Mass., Jan. 11, 1664/5, and died there Dec. 3, 1731. SIMON died there Jan. 19, 1738/9.

SIMON[4] TAINTOR was born at Watertown, Mass., Feb. 28, 1693/4, and on May 25, 1714, he married REBECCA[3] HARRINGTON; see the HARRINGTON line. Their oldest child was

SIMON[5] TAINTER, who was born at Watertown, Mass., April, 1715, and who married MARY BRUCE. Their sixth child and second daughter was

HANNAH[6] TAINTER, born at Sutton, Mass., March 20, 1758, who married JOSEPH[7] BANCROFT. See the BANCROFT line.

TOWNE.

WILLIAM[1] TOWNE and JOANNA BLESSING were married in the church of St. Nicholas at Yarmouth, England, March 25, 1620, and their first six children were baptized there. As the seventh was not baptized there and was born in 1634, they must have come to America by that time. WILLIAM was definitely in Salem, Mass., in 1640; in 1652 he sold his land there and purchased land in Topsfield, Mass., in 1651 and 1656. He died at Topsfield about 1672 and JOANNA died there about 1682. Their sixth child and third son was

JACOB[2] TOWNE, baptized at Yarmouth, Eng., March 11, 1632. He resided at Salem, Mass., about twelve years. He married, June 26, 1657, CATHERINE SYMONDS, daughter of JOHN SYMONDS. JACOB died Nov. 22, 1704. In the witchcraft persecutions of 1692 two of the sisters of JACOB were hanged as witches at Salem and a third sister narrowly escaped.

Deacon JOHN[3] TOWN, their oldest child, was born at Topsfield, Mass., April 2, 1658. On Feb. 2, 1680, he married MARY SMITH. He resided at Framingham, Mass., until he removed to Oxford, Mass., in 1712. He was a Selectman at both places and was Town Clerk at Oxford. He was deacon when the church was organized at Oxford from 1721 until his death in 1740. Their ninth child was EDMUND[4] TOWN, born May 7, 1699. On March 29, 1733, at Topsfield, Mass., he married ELIZABETH[4] GOULD of Topsfield, Mass. She died at Oxford Sept. 17, 1742, and he died there May 27, 1745. See the GOULD line.

ELIZABETH[5] TOWN was born at Oxford, Mass., Feb. 14, 1737/8, and on Jan. 10, 1758, she married JOHN[4] KING; see the KING line.

TRASK.

Capt. WILLIAM[1] TRASKE came to Salem, Mass., about 1628. He was born about 1587, probably in Somerset. He was one of the original members of the church at Salem Aug. 6, 1629. He was a Deputy to the General Court in 1635, 1636, 1637 and 1639. He had a tidewater mill for grinding corn. He went on the expedition against the Pequots, and in 1661 was granted 400 acres for his military service. He died in June, 1666, at which time his wife was living. A letter to him from JOHN SAMBORNE is printed at page 599 of the SANBORN Genealogy.

WILLIAM[2] TRASKE was baptized Sept. 19, 1640, in the First Church at Salem. On Jan. 18, 1666, he married ANN[3] PUTNAM of Salem, daughter of Lieut. THOMAS[2] PUTNAM. See the PUTNAM line. He was a miller and fought as a soldier in King Philip's War. In 1680 he built a massive house which was still standing in Salem in 1904. It was used as an inn, the "Black Horse Tavern", from 1690 to 1740. WILLIAM was recommended to be the local innkeeper. He died in 1691 and ANN died, at Salem, Nov. 14, 1676.

SUSANNA[3] TRASK was born at Salem Nov. 3, 1676, and there she married. on Jan. 3. 1694, JONATHAN[3] FULLER. See the FULLER line.

WEBSTER.

JOHN[1] WEBSTER is said to have come from Ipswich, Eng., to Ipswich, Mass., in 1634. Was made a freeman March 4, 1635. He died 1645. He married MARY ....., who died at Newbury, Mass., April 28, 1694.

ISRAEL[2] WEBSTER of Newbury, Mass., was born in England about 1624, perhaps in Coy, Norfolk. His second wife was ELIZABETH LUNT, daughter of HENRY LUNT, whom he married Nov. 9, 1669. She died Aug. 3, 1688. He died Dec. 7, 1683.

MARY[3] WEBSTER was their daughter, born at Newbury May 18, 1679. It is my conjecture that she married THOMAS[3] BANCROFT, both because of her age and for geographical reasons and also because the wife of THOMAS[4], son of THOMAS[3], came from Newbury. There seems to have been no other Mary Webster who would fit.

Grant.§ WILLIAM was one of the first three selectmen in Dorchester, Mass.; he signed the first land grants and was one of twenty-four freemen who took the oath, May 18, 1631. At Windsor he was a deacon in the First Church. Further details as to the land purchases of WILLIAM and as to the voyage are to be found in chapter I of Francis W. Rockwell's book, mentioned above.

On August 18, 1662, he married DELIVERANCE HAWES, of Dorchester, Mass., born June 11, 1640. and ANN probably died at Roxbury, 1662. JOHN died Sept. 3, 1673, aged 46, at Windsor, Conn. He left an estate worth £134-12-0, as appears from Vol. I of Windsor Land Records, 107 verso. On Sept. 7, 1693, he purchased a half acre of land on Main Street, near the meeting house, from Israel Wetmore, for £27; it was bounded west by Main Street, south by his brother-in-law, James Ward, east by Deacon John Hall and north by land of Deacon Wetmore's widow.

This eighth day of January A. D. 1747, I, Joseph Rockwell, of Middletown, in the County of Hartford and Colony of Connecticut in New England, being engaged in an expedition against His Majesty's enemies and considering of the uncertainty of my temporary life, do make and ordain this my last will and testament in ye following form and manner:

1st.—I give and bequeath to Susanah, my well beloved wife one-third part of all my personal estate to be at her disposal and the improvement of all my real estate during the time she shall remain my widow and the improvement of one-third part thereof for and during the term of her natural life.

And all of my estate that is left after my wife has done with the improvement thereof I give to and among all my children—namely—Samuel, Elizabeth, Mary, Susanah, and Joseph, accounting what I have given to my daughter Elizabeth (which I allow to be two hundred pounds old tenor and no more as so much of her portion of my estate) to be equally divided among my said children, and the reason I have not given my eldest son a double portion is because I have been to great expense for him already, and I do hereby nominate, constitute and appoint my loving wife, Susanah, sole executrix of this my last will and testament, hereby ratifying, allowing and confirming this and no other to be my last will and testament.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal the day and year above written.

On Dec. 15 or 16, 1797, he married BETSEY[7] BIRD, who was born Feb. 9, 1781, at Salisbury, Conn. See the BIRD line. By her he had twelve children.

By the N. Y. Laws of 1825, Chap. 102, JEREMY and Henry Rockwell were given certain toll bridge rights.

As early as 1809 he was serving in the capacity of Justice of the Peace and continued to act as such until about 1830. From 1816 to 1819 he was Town Clerk. Elected to the office of Supervisor in the spring of 1830, he continued to hold that office for fifteen successive years until his death. He also was an Associate Judge, a member of the Assembly and a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1821 which framed the new Constitution of the State of New York.

In the summer of 1866 he became proprietor of the Lake House at Lake George and continued there for five years. For his partnership with his brother CHARLES, see page 53. In 1878 he became proprietor of the American House at Troy, N. Y., and there his son Frederick received his early training. In May, 1888, he became proprietor of the Kenmore Hotel at Albany, and this became so popular that it required enlargement in 1891. In 1898 the Ten Eyck Hotel, Albany's first modern fireproof hotel, was commenced, and it was opened the following year. On Feb. 16, 1906, he died, at Albany, N. Y.

BIRD.

THOMAS[1] BIRD is first heard of at Hartford, 1644, where he died, about 1660. He had two sons and two daughters. The second son was

He was town clerk of Hartford until he removed to Farmington, 1645. He died 1664/5. He apparently came from Essex County, England.

He married HANNAH CLARK and removed to Hartford, Conn., and soon to Farmington, Conn. He was a freeman in 1657 or 1664 and died on Nov. 5, 1709. He was probably born at London about 1622.

§ Deacon ISAAC[1] MOORE, says Savage, III, 227, was perhaps that youth of 13 who came in the Increase in 1635 from London to Boston, with SIMON STONE, another ancestor. ISAAC in any case was one of the first settlers of Norwalk, Conn., whither he came from Farmington. At Hartford, Conn., on Dec. 5, 1645, he married RUTH STANLEY, daughter of JOHN STANLEY, who had died on the way to New England, 1634, (Savage, IV, 164) but who is also said to have been a sergeant in 1649. (Ib., III, 227.) ISAAC was Representative from Norwalk in 1657, but went back to Farmington, Conn., in 1660. He was a deacon in his later life. His first child was

PETER HOBART of Hingham and the granddaughter of EDMUND HOBART of Hingham, who came to America in 1633, was Representative from 1639-42 and died March 8, 1646. JOHN died at Nantucket Aug. 29, 1683.

FULLER.

ROBERT FULLER, a butcher in Redenhall, county Norfolk, Eng., had a son

EDWARD[1] FULLER, who was baptized at Redenhall parish, Sept. 4, 1571, and died at Plymouth, Mass., between Jan. 11 and April 10, 1621. There is nothing to indicate that he was with the Pilgrims in Holland, and it seems probable that he joined the others on the arrival of the Speedwell at Southampton, where the Mayflower was awaiting them. His name is the twenty-third on the Compact signed in the cabin of the Mayflower just before the landing at Cape Cod.

The inclemency of the climate, the privations suffered and the changed conditions of life deprived him of his life a few months after he first saw the inhospitable shores of New England. He brought with him a wife, ANN ....., who also died early in 1621. Their only son,

SAMUEL[2] FULLER, was born about 1612, and was thus left an orphan, nine years old. He died Oct. 31, 1683, at Barnstable, Mass. He grew up under the care of his uncle, Dr. Samuel Fuller, like him a Mayflower Pilgrim. SAMUEL was given three acres at the division of lands in 1623. He was made freeman in 1634 and settled at Scituate, Nov. 7, 1636. The Rev. JOHN[1] LOTHROPPE and others of Scituate founded the town of Barnstable, and thither SAMUEL removed about 1650. He was married at the house of Mr. Cudworth in Scituate by Captain Miles Standish, magistrate, "on ye fourth daye of ye weeke", April 8, 1638, to JANE[2] LOTHROP. See the LOTHROP line. Their son was

He married at Hartford, Sept. 29, 1644, MARY SEYMOUR, eldest daughter of RICHARD SEYMOUR and MERCY RASHLEIGH of Berry Pomeroy, county Devon, Eng., and also of Hartford and Norwalk, Conn. Their son

THOMAS[2] GRIDLEY, born July 25, 1650, married on Dec. 25, 1679, ELIZABETH CLARK of Farmington, Conn., who died April, 1696. She was the daughter of JOHN CLARK, who was one of the early settlers of Farmington, Conn. He had been resident there long enough to have acquired numerous pieces of land when the town register was made in Jan., 1657. He was made a freeman, May, 1664. He and his wife, whose name is not given, appear in the list of members of the church there in March, 1679/80. He made his will Nov. 21, 1721, and "John Clark ye aged Departed his Natural Life, twentysecond of November In ye fear (year?) of our Lord 1712" according to the entry in the town record.

HOYT.

SIMON[1] HOYTE* or HAYTE was born between 1595 and 1600. He settled in Charlestown, Mass., in 1628/9 and was one of the first 12 settlers there. He probably had come from Salem, and from Charlestown he went on to Dorchester in 1630. He was a freeman of Massachusetts in 1631. In 1635 he went on to Scituate, Mass., and thence to Windsor, Conn., according to Stiles in the first companies in 1636; according to Hinman in 1639. Before 1649 he removed to Fairfield and thereafter he moved to Stamford, where he died, September 1, 1657. He probably was married twice; if so, his first wife was ..... SMITH; his second was SUSANNA ..... Pages 286-292.

JOSHUA[2] HOYTE or HAIT was their fifth child. He was born about 1641, probably in Windsor, Conn. He married MARY BELL, daughter of Lieutenant† FRANCIS and REBECCA BELL of Stamford. (See History of Stamford, p. 28.) He lived in Stamford and died there, Jan. 8, 1690, his wife having died in 1684.

He was one of a committee to build a meeting house in 1669, "to finish the town house and fence the lot belonging unto it" in 1677, and was on various committees to lay out land in 1677-82, etc. By a vote of the town he was authorized to set up a sawmill "at the head of the salt at five mile river or thereabout", the mill to be built within 1½ or 2 years, and again in 1684 liberty was given to him to set up a windmill. In 1683 a cider mill and press is mentioned. He was constable in 1682 and "townsman" or selectman for eight years, first in 1671. He was a deputy from "Standford" in the October session of the General Court of Connecticut for six successive years from 1681 to 1686 inclusive and also at three other sessions during those years. In 1685 the General Court granted to the inhabitants of Stamford, he being one, land now situated in the south part of Poundridge, N. Y.—until 1731 Stamford extended four miles into what is now Poundridge.

Various real estate transactions and the inventory of his estate, dated February 22, 1744/5 (which is in the Stamford probate records) are to be found at pages 318-319. MARY was probably the daughter of JOHN PICKET and MARY CROSS of Stamford. The Owl, Vol. I, No. 10.

JOB[4] HAIT, their fourth child, was born January 22, 1703/4. He married ELIZABETH[4] LOCKWOOD and apparently died October 13, 1754. See the LOCKWOOD line. He lived at Hait's Ridge in New Canaan parish. Pages 333-334. He had lived at Stamford and he also lived at North Castle, Westchester County, N. Y.

GIDEON[5] HAIT, their fifth child, was baptised March 20, 1736/7 and married ELIZABETH WEED at Stamford, February 7, 1760. He resided in "old Pound ridge" in 1773 and after the Revolution moved to Greenfield, N. Y. He died and was buried there, July 26, 1801. ELIZABETH probably died about 1815. Pages 353-354.

HUSSEY.

JOHN[1] HUSSEY was born in England.

Capt. CHRISTOPHER[2] HUSSEY was born at Dorking in England in 1595/6. He married THEODATE BACHILER, sister of ANNE BACHILER SAMBORNE and daughter of the Rev. STEPHEN BACHILER. See the SANBORN line. She was born in England in 1596. They sailed from Southampton in the William and Francis and arrived at Charlestown, Mass., July 23, 1630. The Rev. STEPHEN BACHILER came on the same ship two years later. They removed to Newbury, and were living there in 1638, but later they removed to Hampton, N. H., which STEPHEN had founded in 1639. Here THEODATE died, Oct. 20, 1649. Capt. CHRISTOPHER is mentioned many times in the SANBORN genealogy in connection with his nephew, Lieut. JOHN[1] SAMBORNE. CHRISTOPHER'S signature is the first on the Pike petition of 1653, and among all the signers he and JOHN[1] SAMBORNE alone refused to recant, and sturdily maintained the right to petition. About 1656 he and his family appear to have become Quakers. In 1666, 1667 and 1669 he, JOHN[1] SAMBORNE and another were chosen judges to hear the small causes. When Charles II decided to make New Hampshire a royal province in 1679, Sir W. Warren wrote that in Hampton the men most eminent and best qualified for His Majesty's Council were CHRISTOPHER, JOHN and two others. He died at Hampton, March 6, 1686. His sons were among the founders of Nantucket.

STEPHEN[3] HUSSEY was born in 1630 in Lynn, Mass. He married MARTHA BUNKER at Nantucket on Oct. 8, 1676. She died there Sept. 21, 1744, and he died there Feb. 2, 1718. She was born at Nantucket in 1656 and was the daughter of GEORGE BUNKER and JANE GODFREY.

SILVANUS[4] HUSSEY was born at Nantucket on May 13, 1682. He married ABIAL[4] BROWNE at Nantucket on Dec. 7, 1711-12. See the BROWNE line. She died at Nantucket May, 1722, and he died there Feb. 10, 1767.

JONATHAN[5] HUSSEY was born at Nantucket on Aug. 21, 1718, and married HEPZIBAH[5] STARBUCK there on Dec. 26, 1738/9. She died there on Dec. 31, 1764. See the STARBUCK line.

RACHEL[6] HUSSEY married STEPHEN LAPHAM. See the LAPHAM line.

LAPHAM.

1. JOHN LAPHAM. In "some account of the family of Lapham taken down in the year 1782" it is stated that "JOHN LAPHAM, the first that we find any account of in America, came from Devonshire, England, a weaver by trade, to Providence * * *. The Indian war breaking out they were obliged to retire to Rhode Island and their home was burnt by the Indians. Some time after he went to Dartmouth, Mass., and had children there * * *." From other records it is learned that he was born about 1635, appeared in Providence about 1660 and died in 1710. He was an ardent Quaker and soon became actively identified with that sect in Rhode Island, although there are no records to show that he was subjected to persecution amounting to personal violence. He lived in the house near the north burying ground and then on a hill in the north suburbs of the town. In 1676, at the outbreak of King Philip's War, his house was burned when Providence was burned, and he fled to Newport with most of the inhabitants of Providence.

He remained in Newport a number of years and married there in the Friends' Meeting, April 6, 1673. MARY MANN, daughter of WILLIAM MANN and FRANCES HOPKINS of Providence. FRANCES HOPKINS was a daughter of WILLIAM HOPKINS and JOANNA ARNOLD.

In 1673 he was freeman and constable in Providence and Deputy to the General Assembly. From 1676 to 1682 he remained at Newport, but in the latter year he went to Dartmouth, Mass.

On Jan. 6, 1699, a meeting was held at his house in Dartmouth and the following agreement was made:

> "At a man's meeting in the town of Dartmouth, the 6: day of the 11 month, 1698/9 at the house of JOHN LAPHAM, wee underwritten, Peleg Slocum, Jacob Mott, Abraham Tucker and John Tucker, the day and year above written undertake to build a meeting house for the people of God in Scorn Called Quakers, 35 foot long, 30 foot wide and 14 foot studds, to worship and serve the true and living God in according as they are persuaded in Continence they Ought to Do, and for no other use, Interest or Purpose.

but as afores'd, and when one or more of us decease, then Immediately the survivors Choose others in our room, together with the consent of the assembly of the said people, so to be and Remain to us and them forever as afores'd, which s'd House shall be compleatly finished at or before the 10 day of the 8 month next Insuing the date hereof.

"In witness hereto wee subscribe our names with our own hands. And further we of the said Society of people towards the building of said House of our free will Contribute as followeth:"

Here follows the names and amounts of the subscribers, among them JOHN LAPHAM for £5. The house was built the same year, and was the first Friends' Meeting House built in Dartmouth.

At one time JOHN owned 250 acres of land in and about Providence.

His children were as follows:

i. Mary, b. March 1, 1674; d. July 10, 1675, at Providence.

2. ii. JOHN, b. at Newport, Dec. 13, 1677.

iii. William, b. at Newport, Nov. 29, 1679; d. Aug. 8, 1702. He became melancholy and hanged himself on a tree. No children.

3. iv. Thomas, b. at Dartmouth, Sept. 30 or Dec. 13, 1682; d. May 8, 1704.

v. Mary, b. at Dartmouth, Oct. 5, 1686. She married first Charles Dyer on Aug. 26, 1709, and, second, John Colvin, Nov. 21, 1734.

4. vi. Nicholas, b. at Dartmouth, April 1, 1689, and married Mercy (Mary ? Nancy ?) Arnold, daughter of John Arnold of Smithfield, R. I., Dec. 1, 1726 (1 day, 10 mo. 1725 ?).

2. JOHN (1) LAPHAM, married MARY[4] RUSSELL, daughter of JOSEPH[3] RUSSELL and ELIZABETH FORBES (of the Forbes family of Bridgewater) of Dartmouth, on April 3, 1700.

JOSEPH[3] RUSSELL was the son of JOHN[2] RUSSELL and DOROTHY ....., and the grandson of RALPH[1] RUSSELL, who came from Pontypool, Monmouthshire, England, and settled first in Braintree, Mass. RALPH[1] RUSSELL is said to have built the first blast furnace for producing pig iron in America at Taunton in 1652. He was extensively engaged in the iron business. His son

He was killed by falling from the shed of the then new Quaker Meeting House at the Ridge in Queensbury, N. Y. He was engaged in shingling the roof, slipped, fell and struck his head upon a pile of stones, which caused his immediate death. He was a farmer by occupation. Accompanied by his wife and six daughters he came to Queensbury from Nantucket about 1787 or 1788. At Queensbury he bought several hundred acres of heavily timbered land lying between the Bay and Ridge roads, which he afterwards cleared and sold for farms. The Lapham homestead was on the site covered by the dwelling owned and occupied by Grant Haviland about 1870. STEPHEN was a member of the Society of Friends, and was a person widely esteemed and of considerable influence. On April 22, 1777, he married RACHEL[6] HUSSEY.

602. ii. JEROME, b. Nov. 23, 1823.

603. iii. Fletcher, b. Oct., 1833.

602. JEROME (203) LAPHAM was born in Queensbury, N. Y., on Dec. 4, 1823. With his parents he came to Glens Falls in 1832. His early education was in the district schools of his neighborhood, and for one term at the Glens Falls Academy. At the age of twelve he commenced the struggle for existence by working out on a farm. From that date he was variously employed, up to 1845, as canal driver, boat hand, teamster, errand boy and clerk. In 1845 he went to New York and remained about six months in partnership with his uncle in a retail tea and sugar store. He then returned to Glens Falls and entered into partnership with James Morgan, in whose employment he had already served a long apprenticeship, in the mercantile business at the corner of Glen and Exchange Streets. In 1850 he became largely interested in a heavy lumber purchase in the 16th township, which was increased and extended by the firm from time to time. In addition to this a freighting and transportation line was established on the Northern Canal and Glens Falls feeder, ultimately numbering eight boats. The mercantile business was sold in 1856. The lumber business increased in importance until 1863, when he disposed of his share and retired on what he considered a competency. He was elected Supervisor of the town for four terms, including the important crisis of 1864-65, when he was also chairman of the town war committee. He was also elected to the 88th Session of the New York Legislature, as an Assemblyman, serving during 1865. For his efforts on behalf of the Warren County Fair Association, the society, in 1873, presented him with a service of plate. For many years he was a director in the First National Bank of Glens Falls and the Glens Falls Insurance Company.

On Sept. 10, 1846, he married HANNAH[8] HOYT. See the HOYT line. He died at Glens Falls on Nov. 5, 1898, and she died there on Nov. 8, 1918. They are buried in Glens Falls.

1204. Byron (602) Lapham married Minnie S. Spencer at Glens Falls on Sept. 5, 1870. She was the daughter of Henry and Sarah A. Spencer, and was born at Glens Falls on Feb. 12, 1850. She died at Glens Falls on March 6, 1908. He, like his father, has been prominent in the affairs of Glens Falls. For many years he has been the President of the First National Bank, of which he is also a director, and he is also a director of the Glens Falls Insurance Company, while from time to time he has been connected with other enterprises in the city.

LOCKWOOD.

ROBERT[1] LOCKWOOD came from England about 1630 and settled in Watertown, Mass. About 1646 he removed to Fairfield, Conn., where he died in 1658. He married SUSANNAH ST. JOHN. Pp. 1-6. His first son and first child was

LIEUTENANT JONATHAN[2] LOCKWOOD, born Sept. 10, 1634, in Watertown, Mass.; died May 12, 1688, at Greenwich, Conn. He was in the Connecticut colonial legislature for four years, and when he died a special memorial was drawn up in his honor. He married MARY FERRIS, daughter of JEFFREY FERRIS.† Pp. 7-11. Their fourth son and fourth child was

JOSEPH[3] LOCKWOOD, born 1675 at Stamford, Conn.; died 1759, aged 84, at Poundridge, Westchester County, N. Y., where he had resided since 1743. He married ELIZABETH AYRES on May 19, 1698. She died in childbed on Dec. 16, 1715.

Margery Webb, on Aug. 10, 1716. P. 25. His fifth child was ELIZABETH[4] LOCKWOOD, born May 15, 1708, at Stamford, Conn. She married JOB[4] HAIT—see the HOYT line. P. 71.

† JEFFREY FERRIS, says Savage, II, 155, was of Watertown, Mass., and was probably made a freeman May 6, 1635. He was one of the first settlers of Wethersfield, and thence he removed to Stamford, Conn., where he died in 1666.

LOTHROP or LOWTHROPPE.

JOHN LOWTHROPPE of Cherry Burton, Eng., a parish about four miles from London, was early in the sixteenth century a man of extensive landed assets. In the 37th year of Henry VIII (1546) he appears on Yorkshire subsidy rolls assessed twice as much as any other member of the parish. His son was

ROBERT LOWTHROPPE, who succeeded to his father's estate and died, 1558. His wife was ELLEN ..... and their eldest son was

THOMAS LOWTHROPPE married as his second wife MARIA ....., who died at Etton in 1588. His first wife had died in 1574. The fourth child of THOMAS and MARIA was the Rev. JOHN[1] LOTHROPPE, as he wrote his name. He was baptised at Etton, Dec. 20, 1584. He entered Queens College, Cambridge, in 1601, and received his A. B. in 1605 and his A. M. in 1609. He married HANNAH HOWSE, of Eastwell, county Kent. He was curate in Egerton, Kent, in 1611, and in 1623 he espoused the cause of independence. In 1624 he succeeded the Rev. Henry Jacobs in London and became minister of the first Congregational Church in England. He was later prosecuted and imprisoned, and was released to leave the country.

He came to Boston in 1634 in the Griffin, with his children and 34 of his church. He moved from place to place, among them Barnstable and Scituate. He was made a freeman in 1637 and died at Barnstable, Nov. 8, 1653. His daughter

JANE[2] LOTHROP was baptised at Egerton, Kent, Eng., Sept. 29, 1614, and died after 1658/60. She married SAMUEL[2] FULLER. See the FULLER line.

MEAD.

WILLIAM[1] MEAD was born in England about 1600 and died at Stamford, Conn., in 1663. His wife ....., whom he married about 1625, died at Stamford Sept. 19, 1657. Their eldest child was

JOSEPH[2] MEAD born 1630. On Dec. 4, 1654, he married MARY BROWN of Stamford. For a time he lived at Hempstead, L. I., and then he settled at Greenwich, Conn., where he died May 3, 1690. Their second child and second son was

JOSEPH[3] MEAD, born about 1657 and died 1714. He married SARAH[3] REYNOLDS. See the REYNOLDS line. Their fourth child and third son was

JEREMIAH[4] MEAD of Norwalk, born Aug. 6, 1702, and died 1742. In 1725 he married HANNAH[4] ST. JOHN. See the ST. JOHN line. Their youngest child was

SARAH[5] MEAD, born Dec. 15, 1741, who married JOSEPH[5] ROCKWELL. The Mead Genealogy does not explicitly say that SARAH married JOSEPH, but she is the only SARAH whose age is right, and her uncle is the only one of the MEADS who came to Ballston, N. Y. As the SARAH who married JOSEPH was of Ballston, and as SARAH'S father died when she was one year old and her mother died when she was five years old it would be most natural that she should go to live with her uncle, and I am convinced that such was the fact.

REYNOLDS.

JOHN[1] REYNOLDS was born in England, probably in 1612. His wife SARAH ..... was born there about 1614. He took the freeman's oath at Watertown, Mass., on May 6, 1635. About 1636 he went to Wethersfield, Conn., and on to Stamford, Conn., in 1641. SARAH died there on Aug. 31, 1657.

JONATHAN[2] REYNOLDS was born about 1635/7, probably at Wethersfield. He died at Greenwich, Conn., between Jan. 13 and 23, 1673/4. He married REBECCA[3] HEUSTED about 1656. She was the daughter of

ANGELL[2] HEUSTED and REBECCA ..... ANGELL was born in England about 1620. He was one of the original patentees of Greenwich in May, 1665, and died there in April, 1706. He was the son of

ROBERT[1] HEUSTED and ELIZABETH ..... ROBERT was probably born in Somerset, England, in 1596. He sailed for Massachusetts in 1635 and later removed to Stamford, where land was granted to him in Oct., 1642. He died there in 1652 and ELIZABETH died there in 1654.

From 1641 to 1653 JONATHAN REYNOLDS appears to have lived at Stamford. In the latter year he went to Greenwich.

SARAH[3] REYNOLDS was born at Greenwich, Conn., on Nov. 5, 1665, and died after 1708. In 1687 she married JOSEPH[3] MEAD. See the MEAD line. They lived at Greenwich.

ROWLEY.

HENRY[1] ROWLEY was an early planter of Plymouth, Mass., where he was taxed in 1632. It is probable that he was one of the company that came from Leyden in Holland in 1630 and also probable that he was married when he came over and that his three children were born before that time. It has been said that his first wife was SARAH PALMER, daughter of WILLIAM PALMER, Sr., of Duxbury, Mass., who came in the Fortune in 1621, his wife FRANCES coming in the Ann in 1623. On Oct. 17, 1633, HENRY married a second time, Anne, the widow of Dr. Thomas Blossom. HENRY removed to Scituate in 1634, and was admitted freeman that year. In 1638 he removed to Barnstable. He was Deputy to the General Court at Plymouth. His son was

MOSES[2] ROWLEY, born before 1630 and died in 1705 at East Haddam, Conn. On April 22, 1652, he married at Barnstable, Mass., ELIZABETH FULLER, daughter of Capt. MATTHEW FULLER.† She survived her husband and died in East Haddam or Colchester in 1714. In 1657 he took the freeman's oath at Barnstable. From the records it appears that he removed to Haddam as early as 1691. That his wife ELIZABETH may have disapproved of the removal may be inferred from a deed made by her in 1714 in which she declared that she had been left without support and dependent upon the bounty of her sons John and † Capt. MATTHEW FULLER was born, probably in 1603, in Redenhall Parish, Harleston, Norfolk. His wife was FRANCES..... He settled in Plymouth, Mass., in 1640 and died at Barnstable, Mass., Aug., 1678. In 1643 he was a sergeant at Plymouth. About 1650 he went to Barnstable, where, on June 20, 1654, he was appointed a lieutenant, under Capt. Miles Standish, of the company of fifty men, the quota of Plymouth Colony, in the proposed expedition against the Dutch at Manhattan. On Oct. 2, 1658, he became a member of the Council of War, of which, in 1671, he was the Chairman and also one of the Magistrates of the Colony. In 1673 he was Surgeon General of the Colony's troops. In King Philip's War he was Captain of the Colony's forces. In the Quaker controversy he took his stand in favor of religious toleration and was fined for censuring in public the laws against them. He was the first regular physician in Barnstable. When he died his estate was appraised at £1667/4/6; a large sum for those days. It is interesting to note that diamonds and pearls appear in the inventory.

MOSES[3] ROWLEY. He was born Nov. 10, 1654, at Barnstable. He was the brother of MEHITABLE[3] ROWLEY, born Jan. 11, 1660, who married JOHN[3] FULLER. See the FULLER line. MOSES died July 16, 1735, at East Haddam. He married MARY FLETCHER of whom nothing more is known. MOSES took the freeman's oath at Falmouth, Mass., in 1690 and a few years later removed to East Haddam. He made his will in 1733 or 1734. His son

SAMUEL[4] ROWLEY was born about 1688 in Falmouth and died in 1767 in Hebron, Conn. On March 4, 1713, he married his first cousin, ELIZABETH[4] FULLER, daughter of JOHN[3] FULLER and MEHITABLE[3] ROWLEY. See the FULLER line. He lived in the parish of Gilead in the town of Haddam. He was called deacon. Their daughter was

THANKFUL[5] ROWLEY, born July 15, 1723, who married, on Nov. 8, 1743, THOMAS[2] WELLS of Hebron. She died April 28, 1805. See the WELLS line. Their son was
SAMUEL[3] WELLS.

ST. JOHN.

MATTHIAS[1] ST. JOHN (SENSION, SENTION) was born in England and came to Dorchester, Mass., 1631/2 and was made a freeman there on Sept. 3, 1634. He moved to Windsor, Conn., by 1640. In 1654 he removed to Norwalk, Conn., where he died, Oct. or Nov., 1669.

Query: was not the SUSANNA ST. JOHN who married ROBERT LOCKWOOD his sister, as their son Epraim Lockwood married his daughter, Mercy St. John?

MATTHIAS[2] ST. JOHN was born 1630 and died Dec., 1728 or 1729. He was a selectman in Norwalk and married ELIZABETH .....

JAMES[3] ST. JOHN, born 1674, was the fourth child of the above. He made his will Oct. 27, 1750, and it was probated June 28, 1754, at Fairfield, Conn. At Norwalk, Conn., he married MARY COMSTOCK, daughter of CHRISTOPHER COMSTOCK and HANNAH PLATT. MARY was born at Norwalk, Feb. 19, 1671/2, and died there Oct. 17, 1749.

HANNAH[4] ST. JOHN was their fifth child. She was born 1703, married JEREMIAH[4] MEAD, 1723/4 and died June 30, 1746.

SHALER or SHAYLER.

THOMAS[1] SHALER came from Stratford on Avon, Eng., about 1662 to Haddam, Conn., and was proposed for freeman, 1671. He removed to Killingworth before 1677, but went back to Haddam. He sailed for the West Indies in 1692 and was lost at sea. In 1673 he married ALICE SPENCER, daughter of JARED SPENCER and widow of Thomas Brooks. One of his children was
